The Global Village for Future Leaders of Business and Industry

Last year The Young Scientists Association Luxembourg had the pleasure of introducing you to Ms. Claire Roseren, the first 'Global Villager' from Luxembourg. This year we are pleased to invite you to a presentation by Richard M. Brandt, the Director of the Iacocca Institute and the Global Village at Lehigh University in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania.

Global Village is designed for experienced young professionals and advanced students who share the dream of building a leadership career in business and industry and who want to form an active and lasting global network. Participants learn new tools and gain insightful perspectives that are essential to becoming successful leaders in a global world.

Mr. Brandt will speak on his 15 years of experience with the diverse group of over 1550 individuals from more than 128 countries who have attended the intensive five-week program each year. He will also introduce 'Global Village on the Move' a one or two week mobile leadership program of seminars and workshops that is held at different locations around the globe.

Perhaps we can convince Mr. Brandt to bring this unparalleled learning experience to Luxembourg sometime in the future!
